

Joe Weber
Vice President, Global Sales

Joe Weber is currently Vice President of Global Sales. He first joined the company in 1984 as an Industrial Engineer, and since then has held a number of technical, operational and leadership positions within the Construction, Mining, Aerospace and Semi-Conductor Capital Equipment industries. An experienced business leader with over 30 years' experience across four ESCO Divisions, Joe's most recent position was Vice President of North America Mining Division where he was responsible for the sales and profitability for the North America region. Prior to his North American role Joe oversaw Global Operations for ESCO's Products Division responsible for cast and fabricated products manufacturing operating in several countries around the world. Joe is a third generation ESCO employee.